KEITH'S BIOGRAPHY

Keith, the founder and principal of the Bristol School of Shiatsu, began his exploration into healing and personal development while studying for his honours degree in Psychology. His search for a more holistic approach to healing led to the start of his Shiatsu studies in 1977. After graduating from the Kushi Institute with a Diploma in Shiatsu and Oriental Medicine in 1981, he set up in practice and began teaching Shiatsu.

Keith continued his studies with some of the world's leading teachers, including Wataru Ohashi, Shizuko Yamamoto, Pauline Sasaki, Saul Goodman, and Michio Kushi. He further extended his knowledge and understanding of Oriental Medicine by successfully studying for a Diploma in Acupuncture at the London School of Chinese Medicine. He served many years on the practitioner assessment panel of the Shiatsu Society, including two years as chairperson.

As well as teaching Shiatsu, Keith has presented numerous weekend and evening courses in personal growth and transformation since 1990. Keith's teaching of intuitive Shiatsu is inspirational, and is enhanced by the wealth of personal experience gained during his long and thriving practice.

COURSE SUMMARY

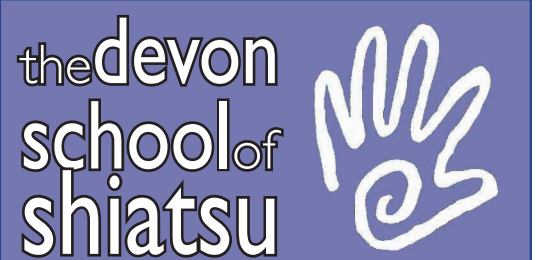

This workshop is an opportunity to take your shiatsu to a new level. It will be both personal transformation for shiatsu and shiatsu for personal transformation. You will be supported in finding the place within you from where you can give the most authentic shiatsu, helping the receiver open into who they truly are.

This workshop is about meeting at the core, facilitating an awakening in the client that allows for the deepest healing.

You will acquire tools for bringing you to presence that will deepen your intuition and make more effective your diagnosis.

You will learn shiatsu techniques that dissolves deep resistance and awaken new life and flow in the receiver.

Expect your life and your shiatsu to move.
